Price Paid Is 102-17 Per Cent. and Interest-Financier Says Sale Best in Past Year.

The Finance Committee of the Counil last night sold $600,000 of 4 per cent. thirty-four year registered bonds of the ulty, Messrs, E. D. Shepard and Com pany, of New York, taking the entire amount at 102.17 per cent and interest.

Mr. H. A. Ensign, a member of the New York banking concern which made the purchase, was present, and represented his house in person.

He declared to a representative of The Times-Dispatch that the sale was the best one made of Southern bonds in New York or elsewhere within the past vest. Mr. Ensign seemed satisfied with lis deal, and the members of the committee seemed pleased. The issue will be 1970,000, or so much thereof as will profluce $601,735, which is the amount recently betrowed for temporary purposes from the Merchants Bank of this city.
When this amount shall have been sold the sale will cease, though they will all go to the New York concern.

The blds were opened at 5 o'clock, and in all there were about a dozen bidders.

The bids were opened at it occasions all all there were about a dozen bidders. The highest put in was by Messrs, Shepard and Company, and the committee did not take long to make the sale. Some of the bids were local and some foreign, and some were for a limited portion and others for the entire issue.

Other bonds will be issued by the city at intervals of three months for some years to come, and Mr. Englen said to the members of the committee: "I suppose we'll get some more of them. You will likely hear from us again."

The New York financier became greatly interested in City Accountant Cariton McCarthy, and the two had several pleasant conversations during the day.

THE KESWICK HUNT.

Great Enthusiasm and Interest in This Popular Pastime.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

KESWICK, VA., March 14.—The meet of the drag hounds at Cismon! Saturday brought out a goodly field of devotees to the chase, The hounds luving been laid on just back of "Music Hall," followed a southernly course through the Macon and Handolph farms, making their first check on the "Clover Field" lawn.

After a few moments "blow," and at the bliast of the huntsman's horn, they again took up the scent at Randolph Mordecal's gate to finish, after three miles of circling over broad grass fields and real "limbers," at "The Oaks." As usual the "Morris and Isolin" hunters stayed well in in fronti and were cleanly ridden by Julian Morris.

Charlin Middleton, of Kentucky, and Dr. Delancey B. Armstrong, of Waterion, N. Y., were closely followed by those from the stables of Mrs. Alian Potts and Wibur Osborn. Others riding were Mr. Frank Randolph, Mr. Samuel Freeman, of New Jersey; Miss Freeman, of New Jersey; Miss Freeman, of New Jersey, Miss Freeman, of New Jersey, Mrs. Key Howard, of Baltimore.

himself with glory, instead of with mud.

Mr. Allan Potts rode in his usual fine form on that great old hunter "Bachelor," Mrs. Potts. although just up from a long spell of illness, skillfully steered her young thoroughbred "Arnova" to the Intemperance, in my opinion, is the curse of the world. There is not a liquor dealer but what will admit this. It is the cause of nearly all poverty, of most murders, and of much sickness. It has filled more insane asylums, it has broken more insane asylums, it has broken more insane asylums, it has broken more insane asylums. It will cure develope the and other causes combined. How can intemporable in the whole system, it will the world the whole system. other causes combined. "How can intemperance be cured" is a question which should engage the most serious attention of all right-minded men. It has been demonstrated that prohibition does not correct, does not prohibit. It was been clearly proven that so long as a man has an appetite for liquor he will get it, either openly or by steatth. To do away with the liquor habit we must do away with the liquor habit we must do away with the appetite. Now, I claim that the appetite for liquor is as much a disease of the stomach and nerves as consumption is a disease of the lungs. To correct the habit, we must correct the disease. A man with a healthy stomach and normal nerves has no appetite, no yearning, no special desire for alcoholic stimulants. A man whose stomach is weak, whose liver is sluggish, whose blood is thin, whose norves are shattered, who is unable to digest what food is put into the siomach, has a craving for a stimulant, or something to lift him out of the despondency which his allments produce.

I firmly believe that Paw-Paw will do more to correct intemperance than tons of tracts, thousands of temperance learning that the prohibitory laws that

The Community Shocked. The death of Father William, so said ind tragic, and to the deep religious case of the Catholic so striking in its and tragic, and to the deep religious sense of the Catholic so striking in tiss surroundings, sent a shock through the entire community yesterday when it became known. A few hours before the majority of the congregation had seen him alive and apparently well, and it was for a time impossible for many of them to comprehend that the cird had come as suddenly.

On Sunday evening last Father William began the usual Sunday night Lenten service at the chirch. This service consists of the Stations of the Cross, followed by a sermon. Father William had been complaining a little, and might have left the service to one of the assistant priests, but it is said that he had a special sermon on "Mixed Marriages" that he wished to preach himself. Before he could do so, however, he was mortally stricken.

The church was fairly well filled with people. Father William, accompanied by the procession of accivics and alter boys.

The church was fairly well filled with poople. Father William, accompanied by the procession of accives and attar boys, had begun what is known in Catholic service as the Way of the Cross—the contemplation of the fourteen paintings representing different stages in the journey of Christ to Caivary. He had passed the second station and had knett before the third—representing the first fall of Christ—when, slightly mumbling the words of the prayer, he was seen to sway weakly, as if about to faint. He asked for help, and two men in the congregation assisted him to a seat. The church was by this time considerably alarmed, but the priest declined to leave. Father Edward was called in, and he completed the service, though the sermon was left unfinished. Father William sat in the pew, too weak to rise or kreel. Several times he passed his hand over his brow as if to clear away a mist from his eyes. At the solemn benediction he bowed his head and struck his breast as is customary at the service. Then when the people began to leave a chair was brought and the sick priest—stricken with parilysis—was carried through the sacristy and the yard to the residence.

Medical assistance was summoned and every attention was given, but without effect, Father William lingered until 2:30

'clock yesterday morning, and died. He ost consciousness soon after he was stricken, and his breathing was difficult Once, just before he died, he raised his head as if to arise from the bed. The blood rushed to his brain, and in a mo-was ureally Beloved.

The news of the sudden death spread rapidly through the city and caused the most widespread sorrow among the Catholics. Many at once visited the priory at Fourth and warshall Streets, where the budy, robed in the sombre habit of the Benedictine monk, lay during the day that it might be seen by all. Throughout the Catholic community Father William was known and devoted-ly loved. As a preacher he was one of the tor he was a father to his people. A mator he was a father to his people. A man of powerful and striking physique—over six feet in height and with a great sweeping beard just touched with gray—he was yet the special friend of little children, whom he loyed ardently. The boys and girls of St. Maryls were attached to him and he to them in a manner that was striking and heavital ten ner that was striking and be to them in a man-ner that was striking and beautiful to the outsider. To these younger ones in his flock the death was most severe in its shock. Many a little boy and girl, who had perhaps often run along beside the great priest and swung to his hand, stole silently into the death chamber vestorias, and after grains a few minyesterday, and after gazing a few min-utes at the still cold form came out with eyes red with tears.

Sketch of His Life. Father William was born in Neuhausen Wuerthemberg, May 18, 1856, He came to America when a boy. He was a studen at St. Vincent's College, Westmoreland county, Pa., where he was ordained July county, Fa., where he was ordained July 15, 1890. In 1885 he joined the Benedictine Monastery at Belmont, N. C., where he was professor for a time. Afterwards he was sent to Richmond as assistant pastor of St. Mary's German Catholic Church, After one year he was appointed pastor of Sacred Heart Church, Sayannah, Ga., where he remained six years, when he was recalled to the monastery at Belmont, N. C., and was appointed rector of St. Mary's College. He held this position for three years, when he was appointed again pastor of Sacred Heart Church, Sayannah, Ga. After again holding the position for six years, he was, in July, 1901, appointed pastor of St. Mary's Church, this city. The Funeral.

A telegram was sent early in the day to Bishop Lee Hald, of Belmont, N. C., the abbot of the Order of St. Benedict, At first Bishop Haid replied, directing that the remains be brought, to the aboy. The irustees of the church, however, wished to have the fungral here and in a manner becoming the pastor of St. Mary's, and the request was at once made that this be permitted. Bishop Haid consented, and wired that he was on his way to Richmond. A third telegram received from him last night said he would be here at 7.4. M. to-day.

Miller and Rhoads announce in our advertising columns this morning the formal opening of their new stores, in connection with the yearly Easter open-mection with the years based opening.

The growth of this enterprising house has been marvelous.
Starting a few years ago in a small store on Broad Street, the business has grown until at the present time they are perhaps the largest department store in the South. Certainly none can surpress them in the quality and assoriment of merchandise carried, nor in the completeness in every way of their store buildings.

When the blood is in bad condition a bruise, cut, scratch, or any slight injury to the flesh, is apt to become an ugly-looking sore or ulcer. Sometimes a boil, blister or pimple is the beginning of a large eating ulcer or open, discharging sore. Often the blood is naturally bad, and is that way from birth, and such people suffer with various kinds of sores from infancy through old age. The blood may become so weak
